

http://www.youtube.com/v/_CQ5AKaEi3U

Um, Shouldn't We Find Some Girls to Talk To?

Hipster #1 with thick-framed glasses: Yeah, he could do the robot [does crappy robot dance].

Hipster #2: You are so lame.

Hipster #1: No, it's funny.

Hipster #2: It's not realistic.

Hipster #1: It's supposed to be how a robot would dance. What's not realistic about it?

Hipster #2: Yeah, so a robot programmed well enough to have a dance function would do what you just did...

Hipster #1: Probably.

Hipster #2: If they were to program a robot human enough to have a dance function it would have to be incredibly advanced and I don't think an incredibly advanced life-like robot would be programmed with such stiff moves. They would almost certainly give him at least slightly groovier moves.

Hipster #1: I think you're thinking of a super advanced robot. I mean, we're just talking about, like, a robot that appears in the next decade.

-Hipster dance bar

Overheard by: Brian D. Adams

via Overheard in New York, Mar 3, 2007