

Monday brought a slow day at the galleries, with many closed. But as it was a beautiful day, with shots of sunshine interrupted by bursts of storm, Pawn decided to head up to Hampstead Heath for a wander. A bus and overground ride later, he was wandering into the heath, for a lovely day out. What follows are photos from the heath, and the adjacent, Hill house gardens & pergola.

A photo shoot was going on